Privacy

The Victorian Auditor-General's Office supports and endorses the Information Privacy Principles established under Victoria's Information Privacy Act. These principles are applied to all activities within the Office, except where the exercise of the powers and responsibilities of the Auditor-General under the Audit Act creates an inconsistency with the requirements of the Information Privacy Act. In these situations, the provisions of the Audit Act prevail to the extent of any inconsistency.

On this website we will only collect personal information from you with your prior knowledge and consent. You can access and browse this website without disclosing personal information. We will only use personal information provided by you for the purposes for which it was collected. We will not disclose your personal information to a third party. We ensure that your personal information will not be disclosed to other state institutions and authorities, except if required by law or other regulation.

We have implemented technology and security policies, rules and measures to protect the personal information that we have under our control from: unauthorised access, improper use, alteration, unlawful or accidental destruction and accidental loss. We will remove personal information from our system where it is no longer required (except where archiving is required).

Please note: This privacy statement relates to this website only and does not extend beyond this website. In addition, the privacy statement does not extend to our audit activities, which are conducted under the Audit Act. When linking to other sites from this website, we recommend that you read the privacy statement of that site to familiarise yourself with its privacy principles.
